BERNARD FORSE

Bernard Forse, a Chemical Technology senior, was killed when the car in which he was riding was hit by another car on May 8, just five weeks before he was to have graduated.

Bernie combined the virtues of intelligence with athletic ability. He was twice on the Dean's List and, in addition, played varsity baseball and basketball during his freshman year.

Bernard Forse was a valuable member of his class, and all who knew him miss him greatly.

Mr. John Wurts, 55, a member of the Broome Technical Community College Board of Trustees, died unexpectedly in New York City only ten weeks after his appointment to the Board.

He was President of the Marine Midland Trust Company of Southern New York, in addition to serving on the Board of Trustees; and he also lent his considerable talents to many other community affairs.

The college, faculty and students suffered a severe loss with the sudden passing of this brilliant and dedicated man.

THIS WAS BROOME TECH IN 1965-66

A Year of Progress — Academically, Physically, Socially

WORKING ON EXPANSION

HANSON BALDWIN

ANN LANDERS

HAYNES JOHNSON

JUDGE WHITING

Progress has been the hallmark of the past year at Broome Tech. Advances were made in almost every aspect of campus life—physical growth, academic and social improvements coupled with a broader awareness of world conflicts which will have so much significance for this generation of college students.

Perhaps the most apparent change on campus was the beginning of construction on a new library, parking lot and temporary building. The temporary building will include two new classrooms, a typing laboratory and faculty offices. These projects will enable Broome Tech to admit more students.

Progress, then, has been made in the quantity of facilities available to students.

Another change took place on campus—less definitive, perhaps, because its effects were not as immediately apparent—but at least as important as the growth in size Broome Tech experienced. This was a qualitative advance. Students were offered an opportunity to extend and improve their range of values and experiences.

Dr. Samuel Gould, President of the State University of New York, visited the campus for the first time. James Farmer, head of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), delivered an address on the Civil Rights Struggle and its significance for students. The war in Viet Nam and United States military power were discussed by Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, in a convocation before the student body.

The political scene in New York State was brought to the attention of students when Howard J. Samuels, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, appeared before the newly organized Political Discussion Group and answered questions about his campaign.

On the local level, William Burns, former mayor of Binghamton; Louis J. Casella, Public Defender for Broome County; and Henry Baldwin, Chairman of the Broome County Board of Supervisors, discussed their professions with students.

The significance of the improved quality of speakers lay not only in the information they had to offer, but also in their ability to stimulate thought and discussion in those students who heard them. Whether or not students agreed with the opinions expressed by speakers and whether or not they lived up to expectations, they were important because they offered students an opportunity to analyze critically the presentations by these men and to judge them according to their performances rather than their reputations.

Student interest in local, state and world problems was not confined to the classroom or the visits of professionals. A feeling of responsibility in controversial issues was manifested in student interest in the practical and moral aspects of the United States position in Viet Nam.

The establishment on campus of a branch of the World University Service (WUS) indicated student concern and $700 was raised for a mimeograph center for students in Huy, South Viet Nam.

Socially, too, Broome Tech took a large step forward with the institution of the Artist Series which sponsored the appearance of Buffy Sainte-Marie. The New Christy Minstrels performed during Spring Weekend, and Si Zentner's Orchestra played for the dance the night before.

The advances of the past year are not ends in themselves. Nothing is perfect which is static.

This book is meant as a record of the things which have taken place during the past year. It records the changes that have occurred, with the hope that these changes will not be the last. With progress comes the responsibility to continue the trend pointing toward more and better changes in the future.

Dr. Samuel B. Gould chats with students Maurice Battisti, Bill Kosta, and Mary Jo Zemek.

Gould lauds Tech's record, future

'Magnificent community college,' SUNY head says

The two-year community college such as Broome Tech is not a "watered-down version" of a four-year school. Samuel B. Gould, president of the State University of New York, told Broome Tech students and faculty members yesterday.

"It must be clear to you that you are an important component of the State University—important as faculty in the new kind of commitment you have, important as students who exemplify a new and exciting opportunity in education, important as a total institution with a new and significant mission to fulfill," Mr. Gould said in his first visit to the school.

Mr. Gould said there must be a greater emphasis placed on community colleges because of the job they will be called upon to do during the next 25 years. By 1985, he predicted, there will be 235,000 college students in New York State, "a far larger percentage . . . than today."

Citizens should be encouraged to understand the importance of a community college.

"that it is not a lesser school than a four-year school."

He blamed much of the lack of understanding about community colleges on the educational leaders.

"We in education have made insufficient effort to explain the community college to the citizen-at-large and even to members of boards of supervisors or other sponsoring groups.

"We talk to one another so much that we forget there is a large and important constituency still uninformed and unpersuaded."

He urged that Broome Tech and other community colleges continue their excellence in programs and not "turn their backs on everything other than a general or liberal arts education."

"I am glad to see this is not happening at Broome Tech," he added.

A good example of Broome Tech's success, he explained, was shown last week when Personnel recruitment officials from 66 industrial and commercial firms spoke to students. There were only 25 recruiters last year.

"There are no better salesmen for your school than your students."

He urged faculty members and administrators "not to sacrifice the quality of education because it is a two-year college."

"Whether courses are general or vocational, cultural or technical, long or short . . . day or evening, conventionally taught or unconventionally taught, should be of no consequence to community colleges so long as they are assured that what they do is consistently excellent and that they are performing the greatest possible service to their students and the community."

Dr. Gould concluded a busy day by addressing a dinner meeting of about 250 persons last night in the college gymnasium.

He complimented all who had a part in the formation of Broome Tech, calling it a "magnificent community college." He said:

"An outstanding institution must have three elements.

First, it must have a clear, well defined and realistic objective. Here it is clear that you know your mission and fulfill it every day.

"Second, good human relations are important—the kind that exists between the faculty and administration, the administration and students and the students and the faculty. You sense the fine rapport that exists between the three groups here.

"Third, and possibly the most important, is a vision of greatness—a realization of greater things, far beyond the day to day tasks. The aims and aspirations here at Broome Tech are a vision of greatness . . ."

Also speaking were Henry M. Baldwin, chairman of the Broome County Board of Supervisors, and Edgar W. Couper, chancellor of the board of Regents of the State University of New York.

Chancellor Couper mentioned "years ago" when Broome County was ashamed of its record as far as local colleges were concerned.

"We were ashamed," he said, "because we had no local community college where our children could go at reasonable cost. Because of this remarkably successful college, our record can be compared favorably with any other metropolitan area—because of the leadership furnished by this college."

GRADUATION

Chairman of Board of Trustees Darwin R. Wales and Dean Durst extend diploma and congratulations to Paula Bokal as Mr. Hartman reads the names of the Liberal Arts graduates.

Graduates listen to Mr. Davidge during the ceremony.

Proud parents and friends photograph the processional.

Maurice Battisti (LA) and Cheryl Winston (BT) had the top cumulative averages among the 370 June graduates. Maurice posted a 3.88 "cume" and Cheryl's was 3.67.

John and Kathleen Case enjoy a unique distinction on Graduation Night. John is about to be awarded his diploma and Associate in Arts degree, while wife Kathleen participates in ceremonies as a faculty member. She teaches in the Dental Hygiene department.

Attending Broome Tech was a matter of twos and threes for some families, as demonstrated by the Czebiniak triplets, the Starley brothers and the Jahelka sisters. The triplets are in the rear — John, Andy and Steve Czebiniak. Standing in front are Larry Starley, Joyce and Margaret Jahelka, Jerry Starley. The two Czebiniaks without cap and gown were to graduate in September with the Electrical and Mechanical Technology seniors.

Picture of a photographer taking a picture of someone else taking a picture. That's 10-year-old Albert Stratton photographing his Mother Ruth along with 12-year-old Charles, 14-year-old Billie Jean and 11-year-old Stella Stratton. Mrs. Stratton (LA) graduated with honors.

Preparing the collars for the gowns are Maryan Pastorok, Barbara Chesnick and Mary Carmody.

Mrs. Bacheller lends the woman's touch in arranging Mr. Liddy's academic hood.

Anne Kucer (Class of '50) presents an alumni plaque to Richard Brutvan.

GRADUATION DINNER DANCE

Mr. Casella entertaining with a fine fund of stories.

Malcolm Ketchum (LA-66) enjoys watching his wife receive a PHT degree for "putting hubby through" Broome Tech. These "degrees" are reserved for the wives of married students.

John Rafter (LA-66) seems surprised as the cameraman catches him in mid-dance with date Liz Walsh.

The crowd obviously enjoys the after-dinner comments of Mr. Casella.

Typical Tech party with a waiting line for the liquid refreshments.

The Fountains Pavilion provided a fine setting for the well-attended festivities.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

Patricia Mann, Mary Gorman, Connie Lawrio, Linda Mancini, Mary Jo Zemek.
Queen of Hearts Candidates

Phil Murphy and Russ Smith serve Eileen Miller and Carol Santoni punch for a refreshing pause.

THE QUEEN LINDA MANCINI

Hearing the news.

Being crowned.

The first dance.

Moe B. leads his combo with Pat Curry on guitar.

It's a formal dance but it's more fun without shoes.

CANDLELIGHT CAFE

Janet Walters and Joan Lillie being served by Geisha Girl Coretha VanWhy.

The annual social event conducted, staged and stocked with entertainment
by the College Choir

Candlelight and "wine."

Gary Zurn, Terry Lifgren and Rusty Deyo entertain under Mr. Stanley's direction.

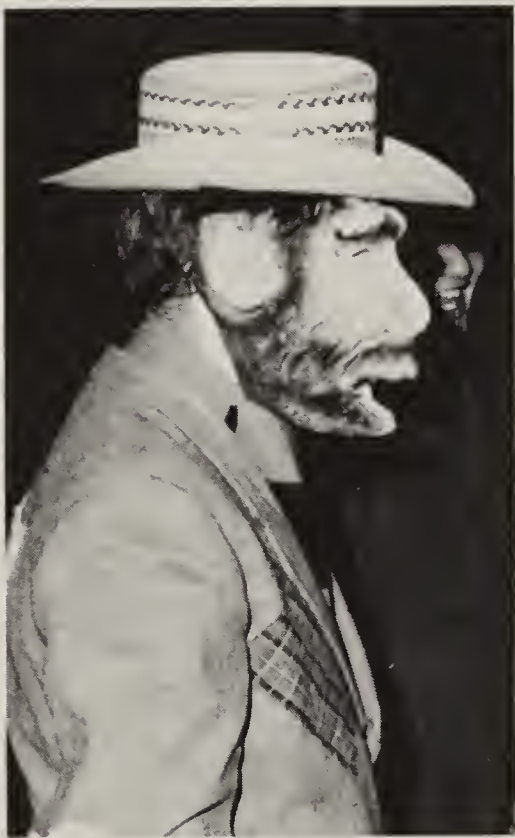

Mary Ann Mosher, Sylvia Pelczar, Eleanor Tingley, Julia Griffin, Jeanne Sheffer and Roberta Cummings served as Geisha Girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Milensky and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were among the faculty members and their wives who were present.

High among the ranking Orientals for the evening was Norman Leonard who played "Chopsticks."

Five o'clock shadow.

It's gentle and air cushioned, but Pat Mann and Pat Curry wonder if it's scented too.

Terry Lifgren poses for a poverty poster.

SADIE HAWKINS DAY

"Just one more dance, and then we'll get married," plead Pam Gaffney and Elaine Davis. John Shillabeer and Mike Lesyshyn don't seem too sympathetic.

Peggy Rich happy squaw. But her "slip" is showing.

"Whatever he can do she can do better," and Mudge Patterson and Fred Sisson contest the point.

The morning after.

ARTIST SERIES

Buffy Sainte-Marie

Buffy before the concert

Designed to expose students at Broome Tech to a wider cultural program, the Artist Series was organized this year.

Though the Four Seasons were to initiate the program, they were unable to appear due to heavy snow. The Series was then launched by Buffy Sainte-Marie, who appeared April 22. She is a unique and individualistic folk artist who writes as well as sings much of her material.

Sue Tucker and Connie Lawrio sell tickets for the performance.

The Artist Series Committee — Standing: Pat Curry, Jim Walker (Chairman), Paul Kikta, Beth Decker. Seated: Connie Lawrio, Sue Tucker, Bob Drum, Marcia Glendening, Donna Carpenter.

SPRING WEEKEND

The Friday Night Dance

Students and their dates relaxing during an intermission.

A large crowd took advantage of the facilities at the Fountains Pavilion.

The Saturday Picnic

The chow line was popular . . .

. . . though Larry Mazar and Lou Smith preferred liquid refreshment.

Paul Peworchik tries to cool off Kevin Kirkpatrick.

Onlookers wonder who will be victorious in the battle of the pig vs. Larry Mazar, Tom Oliver, and Pete Piza. The picnic was held at State Park.

The Saturday Night Concert with the New Christy Minstrels

The Christies . . .

. . . in silhouette . . .

. . . excitement . . .

. . . and fun. About 2,000 jammed the gym to hear them.

ORIENTATION

The Beanie Is the Symbol

Seniors Connie Lawrio and Pat Mann sell beanies to Freshmen Carl Goodwin and Gary Ostrander.

Is this the new action Army?

A Frosh-eye view of photographer John Young.

Senior President Danny Little looks political even in song.

Seniors Alan Eaton, Tom Evans, Dan Little, Butch Blockberger, Linda Johnson and Joan Russell look more like they're organizing a posse than planning for the Orientation.

"Shirts 'n' Skirts", a local square dance group, add an entertainment flourish to the Orientation's Western theme.

Joseph Sirgany, James Mamon and Walter Kit check their list of signatures for "date bait".

Impromptu hootenanny staged by Sandy Minso, Barbara Ganim and James Hall.

FUN . . . FOOD . . .

From the beginning the Frosh were taught to keep their eyes on the ball.

The only legitimate foul play at Orientation.

Happiness is a Dixie Cup for Mr. Milensky.

But Peter Lent decided to give up hot dogs for Orientation.

...AND FROLIC

Senior Leaders race to aid lady in distress.

Paula Bokal says she didn't know THESE facilities were coeducational.

Cherie Mee's curiosity had to be restrained by Bernie Smith and Levering Keely.

ACTIVITIES FAIR

Mr. Jack Diamond of STETA explains the operation of closed circuit television to Joseph Collins and Barbara Simpson during the activity fair. STETA is the Southern Tier Educational Television Association.

Linda Lay (right) gets the point from Jerry Stables and Corky Friends.

See, Mr. Collins really is the Mustang type.

The College Choir attracts a crowd.

BIG JUMP IN BIG WIN—Jim Caverly cleans the boards to help the Hornets hand Erie Tech its only Empire State Conference loss 64-58.

Don Beary starts to dribble away from Erie Tech's Bob Nowok (50) in the Hornets' big win. Morty Andrews (40) of the Hornets, Jim Klein (25) of Erie Tech and Broome's Jim Coverly are in the background.

Lack of Height, Depth Hurt Hornets

Lack of height and of depth were the Hornets' two biggest basketball problems, and they were severe enough to limit the team to a 15-12 record for the season.

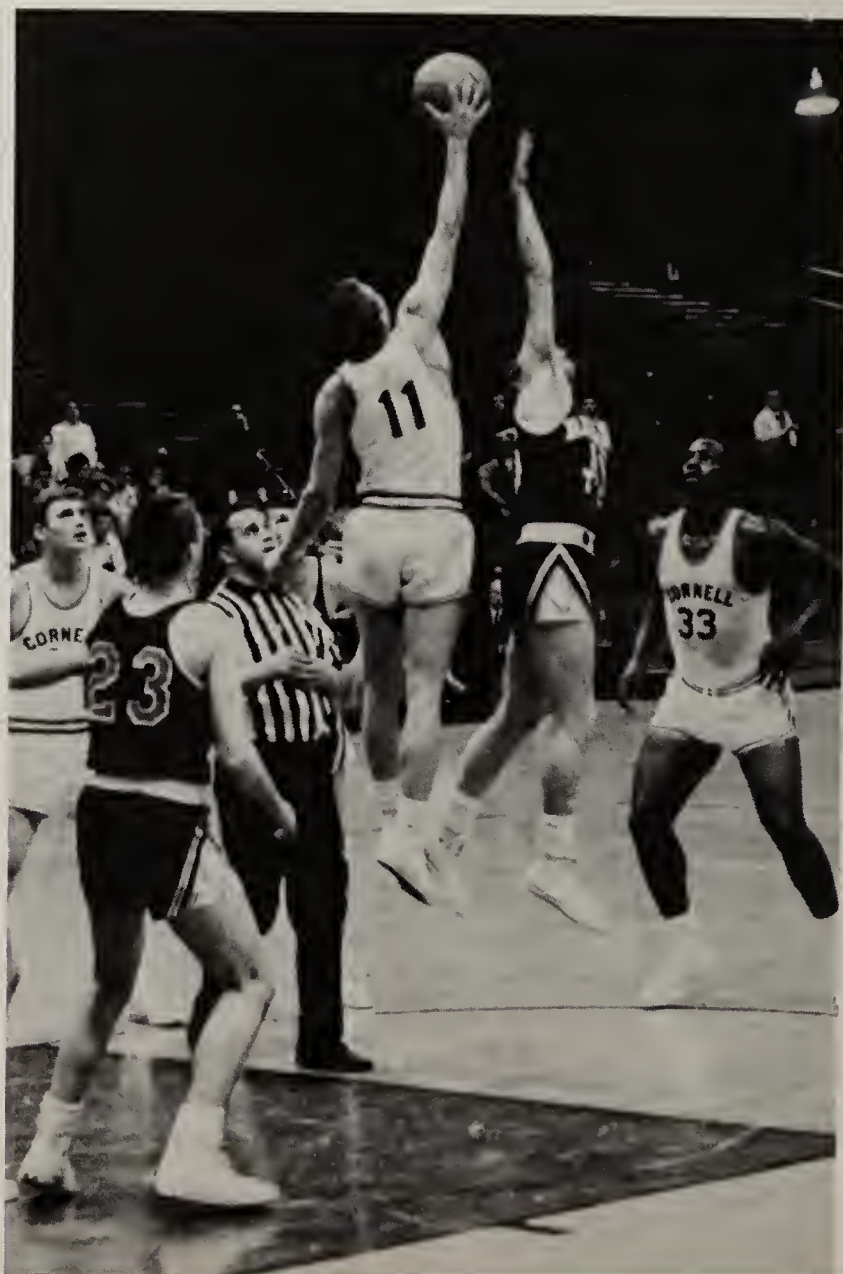

Opponents' superior height wore the Hornets down in several games, after our boys had led slightly or stayed even with only eight or ten minutes to play. The Cornell Frosh and New York City Community College games were two cases in point.

The high point of the season was the upset victory over Erie Tech. This was the Kats' only defeat in Empire State Conference competition, as they won the championship our Hornets had captured six times in the previous eight years. Coach Dick Baldwin's slow-down strategy worked superbly in the 64-58 triumph at home.

The season's low point, in contrast, was the failure to win even one of two games in our annual Christmas Classic. Defeats to New York City 83-67 and then to Wright Junior College of Chicago 95-80 marked the first time the Hornets had lost both tournament games.

Captain Mike Steele scored 440 points during the season for a two-year career total of 976. That's the second best total in Hornet history, next to Phil Meagley's 1009, set the year before.

The Hornets' lack of height is demonstrated in this jump ball action in the game against the Cornell Frosh at Borton Hall in Ithaco.

Tom Foley in a post-game uniform, heads for wedding reception carrying gym bag after the St. Bona Frosh game.

It's really not a stick-up. It's Foley guarding an opponent.

Mike Steele (20) throws in a lay-up despite the efforts of Roland Braswell of New York City Community College to stop him. But it wasn't enough for the Hornets who bowed 83-67 in this first-round game in the annual Christmas Classic.

Behind them are Dale Van Gorden (4-4), Chuck Yonko (2-10), coach Ken Puffer, Marshall Scott (5-4), Ron Ellis (3-3-1).

Evans and Schild placed 5th and 6th in the Nationals. Others on the squad were Bill Connery (2-1), Mike Minnich (3-3), John Pelczar (2-0), Dick Smith (2-1), Al Wells (0-3).

TENNIS TEAM HORNETS' WINNINGEST

The tennis team posted the best won-lost record of all of Broome Tech's seven varsity sports squads by winning seven of eight matches. A 9-0 loss to the powerful Cornell freshman team was the only setback suffered by coach Oz Winters' netmen in head to head competition. They placed third in the regional tournament.

Bud Reyen, a senior, and three freshmen were the key men to the season's success. Bud was named the team's most valuable player, and he played No. 1 man.

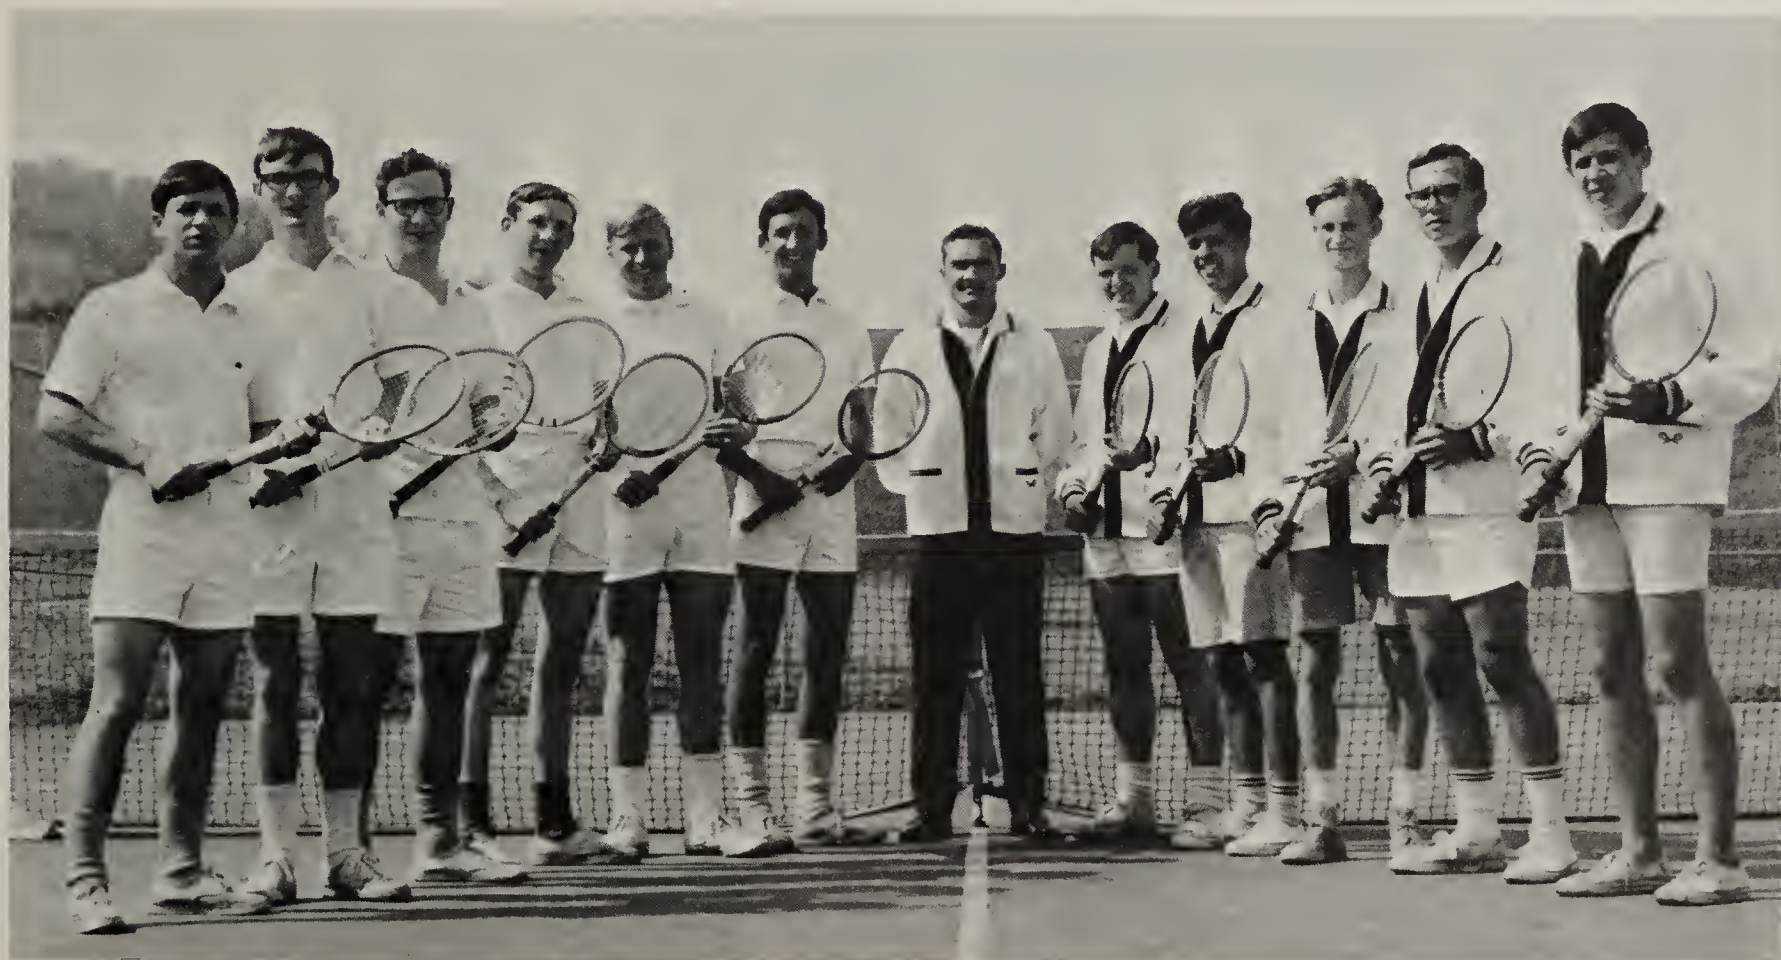

Dave Harmes, Ray Koliander and George Lawson are the three freshmen, each of whom won seven of eight matches while playing at the No. 3, 5 and 6 spots, respectively.

In addition, Koliander was 5-1 in doubles for a 12-2 overall mark; Harmes was 5-2 in doubles and thus 12-3 in total; and Lawson was 4-1 with a partner for an 11-2 combined figure.

pleasant contrast with last year, when coach Ed Daub's team lost seven of its last eight games.

Shortstop Tony Cicotti led the team in hitting with a .359 average and in runs batted in with 15. Don Beary hit .340 while playing first base, and second baseman Wayne Lockwood batted .333 and led in three departments—runs scored with 15, stolen bases with 12 and doubles with three.

Freshmen Ray Baetz and Jim Yanus and senior Les Rorick had 2-1 pitching records, while freshman George Margan and senior Jim Molinaro were 1-2. Margan was the club's busiest pitcher, as his 31 innings on the mound comprised about one-quarter of the season. He was also effective with a 1.7 earned run average, second to Baetz' 1.10.

Lockwood was the team's most valuable player, as he was the take-charge man who was also dependable in the field, in addition to sparking on offense, as noted above.

GOLFERS FINISH WITH 5-6 RECORD

It was a tough season for the Broome Tech golfers, as both the weather and the opponents gave them trouble. They finished up with a 5-6 won-lost record in addition to a 15th-place finish in the regional tournament.

Ron Lasky was a bright spot, as he won nine of his 10 matches to earn the team's most valuable player designation. Although Ron was a freshman, he will not be back next spring as he has been accepted at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM WINS 6, LOSES 4

Coach Dick Leo's cross-country team won six dual meets, lost four, and placed fourth in the regional competition during the fall of 1965.

Pat Sheridan was the team's top performer, as he led his teammates across the finish line in nine of the ten meets. Two of these he won against all foes, once he was second and twice third.

For this consistent performing, he was named the team's most valuable player.

Chuck Yacaginsky and Dave Ward were right behind Sheridan in performance. Chuck was the only Hornet to beat Sheridan, and he led all his other teammates six times. Ward was second to Sheridan three times and third to Pat and Chuck in seven races.

The Hornet harriers lost their last two races to prevent them from having an outstanding season, as they won six of their first eight meets.

Soccer Team Posts 1-7-1

Broome Tech's soccer team started the season off with a 1-1 tie against Delhi Tech in the fall of 1965, and then things got worse. That's the kind of a season it was.

At year's end, coach Oz Winters' booters had won one game and lost seven, in addition to that tie.

The victory came over Cobleskill 6-3, and it snapped a five-game losing streak.

But the Hornets were not without honors, as goalie Bill Connelly was named to the regional second team All-Stars, and Frank Fettuccia was one of the region's top scorers with 11 goals in nine games. Frank was the team's most valuable player.

Bill Seymer strikes a ballet pose in trying to avoid a fallen Erie Tech player. Terry Montross at left starts after the ball.

CONVOICATIONS

Convocation Program Provided a Variety of Off-Campus Speakers

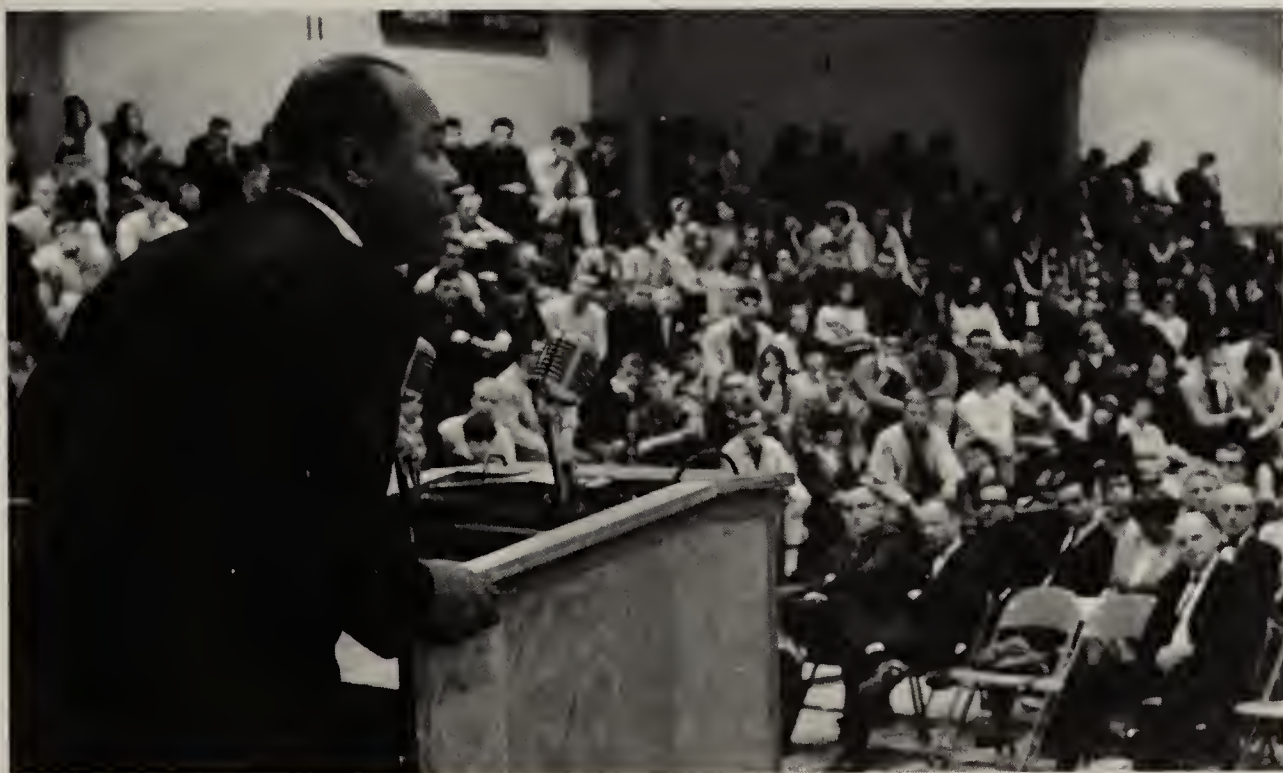

Speakers on the convocation program covered a wide variety of fields—from Congress of Racial Equality Director, James Farmer, who brilliantly discussed the Civil Rights movement to columnist Ann Landers, who spoke entertainingly on problems of human relations.

Several speakers dealt with the critical problems of today's changing world. Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, covered the conflict in Viet Nam and United States military power. The Central Intelligence Agency and its current position in government was discussed by Haynes Johnson, author of the controversial The Bay of Pigs. The former professional football player and sheriff of Campbell County, Kentucky, George Ratterman, spoke briefly on organized crime and also provided an insight into football.

In a different vein was Jim Fowler, of television's "Wild Kingdom." He discussed the training and habits of birds of prey, and brought his harpy eagle and falcon with him.

The convocations concluded with folk artists Joe and Penny Aronson, who provided an entertaining highlight to the schedule.

The convocation committee consisted of Mr. Philip Audino, Mr. Marvin Behr, Mr. Gordon Dates, Mr. Milton Kirkpatrick and senior Maurice Battisti.

JAMES FARMER at coffee hour after the convocation.

Mr. Farmer spoke on "The Civil Rights Struggle" at one of Tech's convocations.

"The Wettest Shoulder in the U.S.A." belongs to ANN LANDERS, who spoke at our first convocation.

Ann Landers at Coffee Hour following convocation.

HANSON BALDWIN and student Patricia Mann at gathering following Mr. Baldwin's talk on "The War in Viet Nam."

JIM FOWLER and friends — "Freddy" Falcon and Harpy Eagle.

Haynes Johnson spoke on "The CIA—The Secret Empire." He received a Pulitzer prize for reporting a month after his talk here.

Organized crime was the topic of a speech by George Ratterman, former Notre Dame and pro football star, as well as a reform sheriff.

Joe and Penny Aronson during convocation.

ACTIVITIES

ASTME (American Society of Tool Manufacturing Engineers)

The Student Chapter 40 of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers (ASTME) had a membership taken from the technical curricula. Its primary objective was to promote knowledge and experience in fields related to mechanical technology.

Monthly tours of local industries and speakers from the tool and manufacturing concerns in this area were supplemented by occasional social events.

During the year the chapter became an affiliate member of Binghamton Parent Chapter No. 35. To celebrate this event a father-son banquet was held on campus.

10th ANNIVERSARY

In September 1956, a chapter of the National Office Management Association was established on our campus. The national association changed its name to The Administrative Management Society in 1963, and so the official name of the Business Club now is the Broome Tech Collegiate Chapter of AMS.

The club has helped make Broome Tech students more aware of the many employment opportunities in the Southern Tier.

Numerous activities have greatly benefited both the campus and the community. These included $1250 given to the Broome Tech Foundation for scholarships.

The annual Christmas Classic Basketball Tournament, book purchasing, scholarship grants, and financial support to needy organizations were but a few of the projects. The Business Club also ran the coat checking service on campus, brought in speakers for semi-monthly meetings, and helped finance the annual club trip to New York City. Membership was open to all undergraduate students on campus.

The Broome Tech Camera Club, with the objective of furthering its members' photographic knowledge, carried out a very busy and informative program.

Members enjoyed lectures by top area photographers. Mr. Gene Swierkosz, chief photographer for the Evening Press, spoke on various methods of improving pictures and on many printing problems and their solutions. Mr. William Whitaker, an area free-lance photographer and former Ansco advertising photographer, discussed the techniques used in photographing models.

Members also saw various filmstrips, provided by Ansco, on better photo techniques. The academic year concluded with the annual picnic, during which members practiced their photographic techniques.

COLLEGE CHOIR AND TECH TONE MASTERS

The College Choir was organized with the philosophy that good music performed well is not only an educational but a recreational experience. It continually brought to the campus and the surrounding communities programs of high caliber choral literature.

Orchestral accompaniment was provided when called for in all major choral concerts, an uncommon occurrence in junior colleges.

The highlight of the year was the presentation of the Christmas Concert when the choir performed Beethoven's Choral Fantasy with orchestra.

The College Choir joined with the Men's Glee Club for tours to other schools and colleges, and in conjunction with them, presented the annual Pops Concert on the terrace of the Student Center in May. The choir concluded its activities by performing at the June commencement exercises.

President Steve Secord
Director Mr. Stanley

The Men's Glee Club, also known as the Tech Tone Masters, contributed to campus social life, as well as the cultural life of the community.

The annual spring tour to other colleges and high schools made the reputation of this group well known to students across the state.

Drawing its members from virtually all curricula on campus, it provided the opportunity for students of diversified interests to get to know each other and to benefit from each other's personal as well as musical experiences. Through the efforts of this group, the annual Candlelight Cafe was staged.

CITADEL

Standing: Pat Parks, Mr. Behr, Chris Shaw, Dorothy Kerr, Ann Maddock, Mr. Huther, Alyson Bach. Seated: Carl Goodwin, Sharon Hattala, J. Beth Weierich, Nancy Kodey, Jerry Mulholland.

Mr. Behr and Mr. Gallenger, a representative of the publisher, help the staff in the selection of a cover.

The Citadel has tried to mirror the changes which have taken place at Broome Tech during the year. This has been done both pictorially and verbally. In keeping with the theme of the book, Progress, the staff has made several improvements. Larger senior pictures, more copy and the use of candid in the senior directory have been included in an attempt to achieve greater historical accuracy and variety.

The Citadel staff gained practical experience in cropping, doing layouts, copy writing and proofreading, in addition to such activities as directing the photosale toward the end of the year.

Membership was open to all students.

CIVIL TECHNOLOGY ASSOCIATION

The Civil Technology Association was formed primarily for the purpose of keeping Civil Tech students up-to-date and active in the field of Civil Engineering.

Through interesting and informative symposiums and the Annual Builders Home Show, members of the organization gained an insight into the practical as well as theoretical aspects of Civil Engineering.

Any student interested in the construction should benefit from membership in CTA. Membership is open to all students.

DEBATE SOCIETY

Seated: Pamela Gaffney, John Edgecombe, Mr. McGranaghan, Gleason Snashall, Susan Cramer. Standing: Robert Dinaburg, Paul Hudec, Jo Ann Guiton, Linda Hoover, Maureen Park, Bernie Smith, Michael Conant.

The Broome Tech Debate Society was open to all full-time students with a 2.00 average or better. The main topic of debate during the year was "Resolved, that law enforcement agencies in the United States should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime."

Starting in early Fall when the college debate topic was released, the society hosted a series of workshops and practice debates. In memory of Broome Tech professor, Donald W. Emmons, the first New York State Junior College Debating Association tournament was held here in November.

There were intersquad practice debates and a practice round against the Colgate freshmen. The club traveled to Bronx Community College for a tournament and entered both the New York State Championship Debate Tournament at SUNY Cortland and The New York State Junior College Debate Tournament at SUNY Cobleskill. At Ithaca College, the society participated in a Parliamentary style debate on the topic of morality. In addition, representatives were sent to participate in an individual extemporaneous speech contest at SUNY Oswego and to observe the New York State Legislative Assembly in Albany.

The Broome Tech Dental Hygiene Society, a Junior Membership organization in the American Dental Hygienists' Association, enabled members to learn the standards, ethics and accomplishments expected of a professional dental hygienist. Members had an opportunity to broaden their knowledge and skills through the official publication, The Journal, which allowed them to keep abreast of the latest scientific research and technical advances in the profession.

A senior get-acquainted dinner in honor of freshmen Dental Hygiene students was one of the group's activities. Members also participated in Childrens' Dental Health Week activities in conjunction with the Broome County Dental Society.

Representatives were sent to the Junior American Dental Hygienists' Association Northeastern Regional Conference held at New York City Community College in April, and senior members attended the New York State Dental and Dental Hygienists' Association meeting held in Syracuse in May. Professor Bowling, one of the club's advisors, was installed as President of the association at the state meeting.

At the end of the year, freshmen held a farewell dinner in honor of graduating seniors.

"Ah, Wilderness"

"The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife"

Anatole France's "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" was presented by the Drama Club on January 20-21, 1966. This was a two-act social satire. Mr. Kirkpatrick directed the cast of fourteen club members.

On February 26, the Civic Theater and the Broome Tech Drama Club united in an all-day workshop. Alan Schneider, a well-known Broadway director, evaluated the performances of the two groups.

The Drama Club was one of forty organizations from the United States and Canada to participate in the Yale University Drama Festival. Fourteen productions were seen, followed by analyses by well-known drama critics.

"Ah, Wilderness" by Eugene O'Neil, was presented by the Drama Club on April 29-30 and May 1. The three-act play dealt with the strange and amusing happenings of a typical American family on the Fourth of July. The cast of fifteen members was directed by Mr. Drake.

ENGINEERING SCIENCE SOCIETY

The Engineering Science Society, one of the technically oriented organizations on campus, was open to all interested students.

The club sponsored several guest lecturers during the year. Jim Fisher of Tektronix Corporation spoke on oscilloscopes and their operation. "Electrical and Mechanical Analogies" was the topic of a lecture by Walter Niehoff of IBM. Student seminars were conducted by Wadie Sirgany, Roger Hinsdale and Gleason Snashall.

The club compiled a library of engineering school catalogues. Research on computer circuitry was also carried out.

SENIOR CLASS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Joan Russell, Tom Evans, Danny Little, Jim Walker, Kathy Reynolds.

The Senior Executive Committee was responsible for the organization of the senior class. Its first major activity during the year was the King Tech Dance.

The Artist Series, which sponsored well-known entertainers at Broome Tech, was first organized by this committee. The first to perform was Buffy Sainte-Marie, a folk artist, who in addition to singing writes much of her own material.

Concluding the activities of the committee was the annual Graduation Dinner Dance held at the Fountains Pavilion.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Class of 1967 began its formal organization in the fall quarter with a call for volunteers to serve on the Freshman Steering Committee—a call that brought out some thirty Frosh.

Under the chairmanship of Jim Bishop (LA), the Steering Committee carried out its two essential functions—the organization of class elections and sponsorship of the chief freshman social function of the year, the Queen of Hearts dance, during Winter Weekend in mid-February.

In a project suggested and organized by Bernie Smith (ET), voting machines were used for the first time in Frosh elections. Gordon Puglisi (LA) was elected to the Class Presidency.

In the winter and spring quarters, the Executive Committee of the Class, including newly-elected officers, former members of the Steering Committee and new volunteers wrote detailed plans for the Fall '66 Freshman Orientation Program. At the end of the academic year, the Class sponsored a tea and reception for graduating Seniors.

The Future Secretaries Association was active in community service as well as in the promotion of greater interest in the secretarial field.

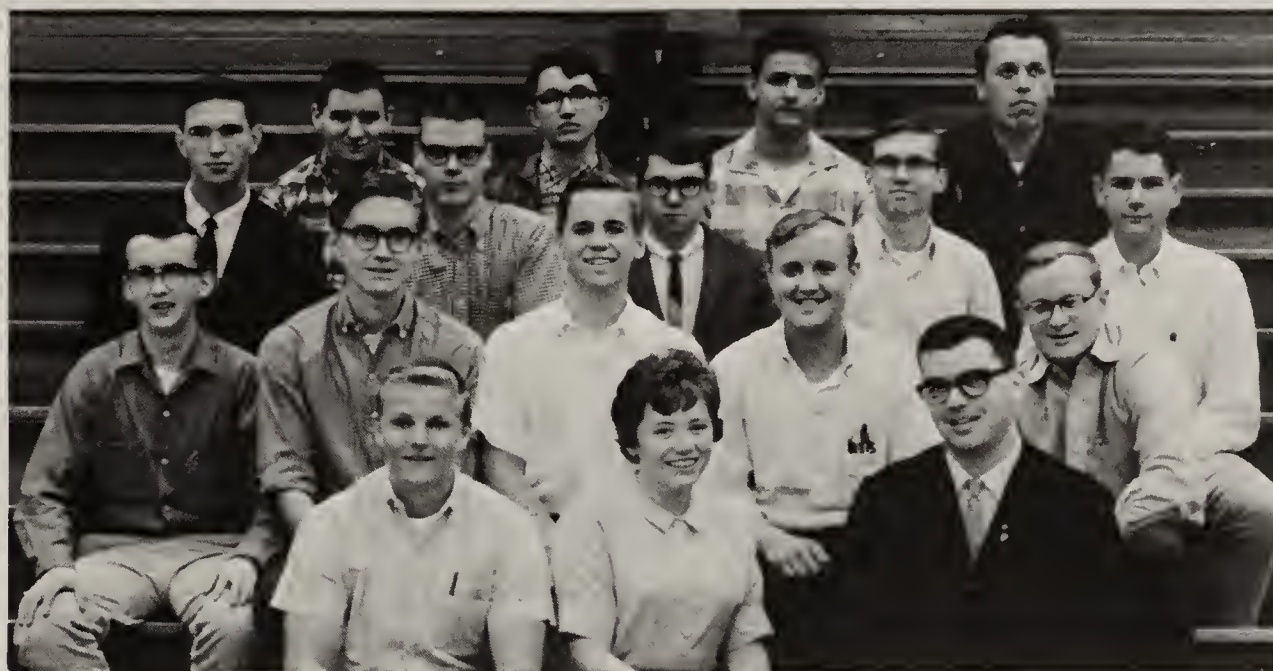

FSA sponsored numerous bake sales in the SUB during the course of the year. Proceeds from these sales enabled the club to purchase a badminton set for the children of the Susquehanna Valley Home. Other service projects included the collection of craft materials for the patients of the Broome County Infirmary.

In addition to community projects, the members participated in a day-long workshop sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

The Broome Tech chapter of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) was a student organization whose purpose was to help orient technical students in the field of electronics.

Its activities included field trips to area firms involved in the electronics industry, regional meetings, speakers from local industries, and an annual picnic. Members received trade publications, and certain benefits were extended to them when they joined the senior organization.

Members were also introduced to new concepts pertaining to electronics and electrical engineering through their membership.

LIBERAL ARTS CLUB

Darlene Paige and Gary Tregaskis view a piece of Dr. Violet Kalyan-Masih's sculpture during art show sponsored by the Liberal Arts Club.

The Liberal Arts Club was established to fill a definite need for the development of rapport among students interested in liberal arts. Initially the club undertook the decoration of Titchener Hall for the Christmas holidays. It also sponsored a project to investigate the library and offer suggestions for its improvement. This campaign included articles in Tech Talk explaining the existing situation in the library.

A Sunday afternoon art exhibit and tea were directed by the club for the benefit of the entire student body. Bake sales were undertaken to raise money to finance other projects.

Many small parties, picnics and a faculty-student dance at the Fountains Pavilion were included in the social activities of the organization.

Mr. Church-Smith, Mrs. Bacheller, Mr. Sterling, and students already graduated from Broome Tech spoke at some meetings.

Father Bebel celebrates Mass in the Little Theater.

The Newman Club, part of a national Catholic religious organization, had a meaningful program during the past year. Meeting weekly in the Little Theatre, the club discussed various topics, such as poverty and the Church, sex, evolution, Church history and other matters of interest to the students.

During Lent, Father Bebel, assistant pastor of Saint Ann's parish and advisor to the club, held weekly Masses. It was his intention to correlate the sacrifice of the Mass, as well as the weekly discussion topic and the teachings of Christ with the student's home and social life. His program was designed to make the student more aware of his faith and moral principles.

PEP CLUB

Seated: Philip Gold, Karen Kishpaugh, Bob Smith, Chuck Lasky. Standing: Peggy Rich, Sue Christman, Alyson Bach, Coretha Van Why, Mary Norconk, Alice Bond, Jo Ann Guiton, Michael Conant, Maurice Battisti.

The Pep Club was organized for the first time this year under the direction of Miss Jackie Wood, the women's physical education teacher and cheerleader's advisor. The club was organized to instill spirit and to encourage student participation in the various athletic events involving inter-collegiate competition.

Bus trips to Cornell and Alfred Tech during the basketball season were organized by the club. Through its efforts male cheerleaders participated in the cheering at one of the home games.

All students were encouraged to join.

Phi Theta Kappa, the campus honor society, conducted two programs during the past year — the tutorial system and dinner meetings. These activities were under the guidance of Mr. Hickey and Mr. Milensky.

The tutorial system was an innovation of this past year. It was designed to meet the needs of students who desired aid in their scholastic work. Phi Theta Kappa members looked on this as an opportunity to aid their fellow students.

The dinner meetings were a continuation from previous years. At these meetings, guest speakers addressed the group on topics of interest — employment, education, and journalism, among others. All students were invited to these meetings. Special invitations were extended to those clubs which had a direct interest in these speakers.

Representative Howard Robison

Mr. Henry Baldwin

The Political Discussion Group, a new organization on campus, had an active program in its first year of existence. Students and faculty had the opportunity to question local and national politicians during informal, off-the-record meetings.

Mr. William Burns, former Mayor of Binghamton; Mr. Anthony Libous, President of Binghamton City Council; Mr. Howard Robison, Congressman from the 33rd District; Mr. Louis Casella, Public Defender for Broome County; and Mr. Howard Samuels, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, were guests of the group. The British General Elections, held in March, was the topic of a talk given by Mr. Basil Cooil, Liberal Arts Instructor from Great Britain. A student from Chenango Valley High School, Mr. Dale Smith, presented the views of a pacifist to the group.

Many interesting discussions were held within the group. Subjects included the conflict in Viet-Nam, United States intervention in the Dominican Republic, the role of government in the individual's life and the question of urban renewal. During these discussions, a wide variety of opinions were voiced on current political trends.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Clockwise: Carolyn Torpy, Mr. Konowalow, Ginny Tallmadge, Mr. Appel, Robert Sieben, Elaine Davis, Shanna Fairbanks, Pam Gaffney, Donna Carroll, Linda Collier, Carol Miller, Betty Miller.

Students who wished to organize social activities on campus formed the Social Committee, which was a permanent part of Broome Tech's Student Council. The committee helped provide the students with an adequate social program by acting on requests and allocating funds for all social events.

Among the annual activities sponsored by the committee were the Sadie Hawkins Dance, King Tech Dance, Social Mixers, SUB Openings, movies, and Spring Weekend.

Membership on the committee was open to all students.

The Student Council engaged in an extremely active program during the year. It performed such basic duties as establishing a Student Court, outlining scheduling of outside activities at the Student Center, passing a student activities budget and ratifying constitutions for the newly-formed Debate Club, Political Discussion Group and Liberal Arts Club.

Committees were also set up to deal with various campus problems and activities—a Traffic Committee, an Alumni Committee, an Investigating Committee (to analyze Student-Faculty relations), and a Campus Beautification Committee. Student Council for the first time was responsible for the Christmas decorations in the Student Center.

In addition to dealing with campus problems, the Student Council brought current events to the attention of the student body. The newly-formed Welfare Committee was responsible for presenting the issues in Viet Nam. It sponsored several forums and a convocation for this purpose.

The World University Service, a universal student self-help organization, was initiated here by Student Council this year. A total of $700 was raised to set up a mimeograph center in Hue, South Viet Nam through a week-long series of activities. Under the auspices of Student Council, this year's Blood Drive collected a near record amount of 84 pints of blood.

Tech Talk, the campus newspaper, was an indicator of student opinion, achievement, and activity. Members of all curricula were welcome to participate so that the newspaper would represent the entire campus.

Staff members increased their knowledge of the technical as well as creative aspects of newspaper work. In addition to writing articles and columns, some members were introduced to such processes as copy editing, headline writing, make-up, and proofreading.

The paper was published semi-monthly, a total of fifteen issues, with each edition containing six pages.

AND THE OLD DETOUR

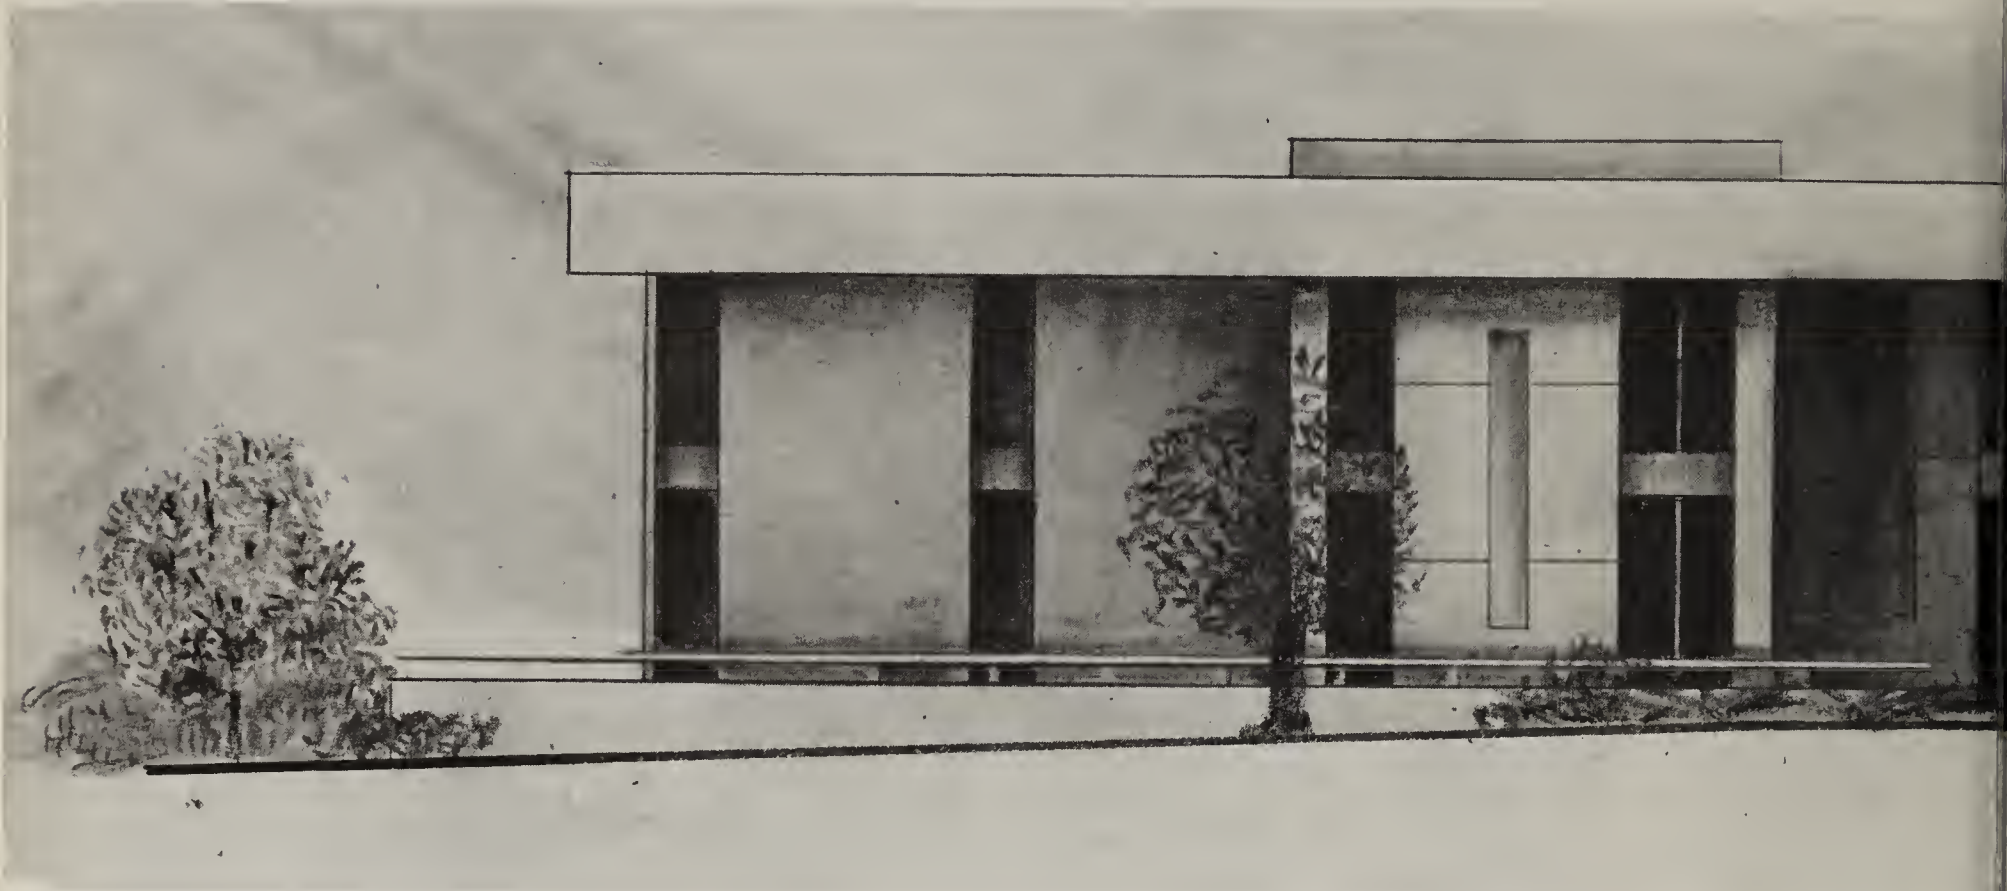

Construction had its striking moments which our photographer caught.

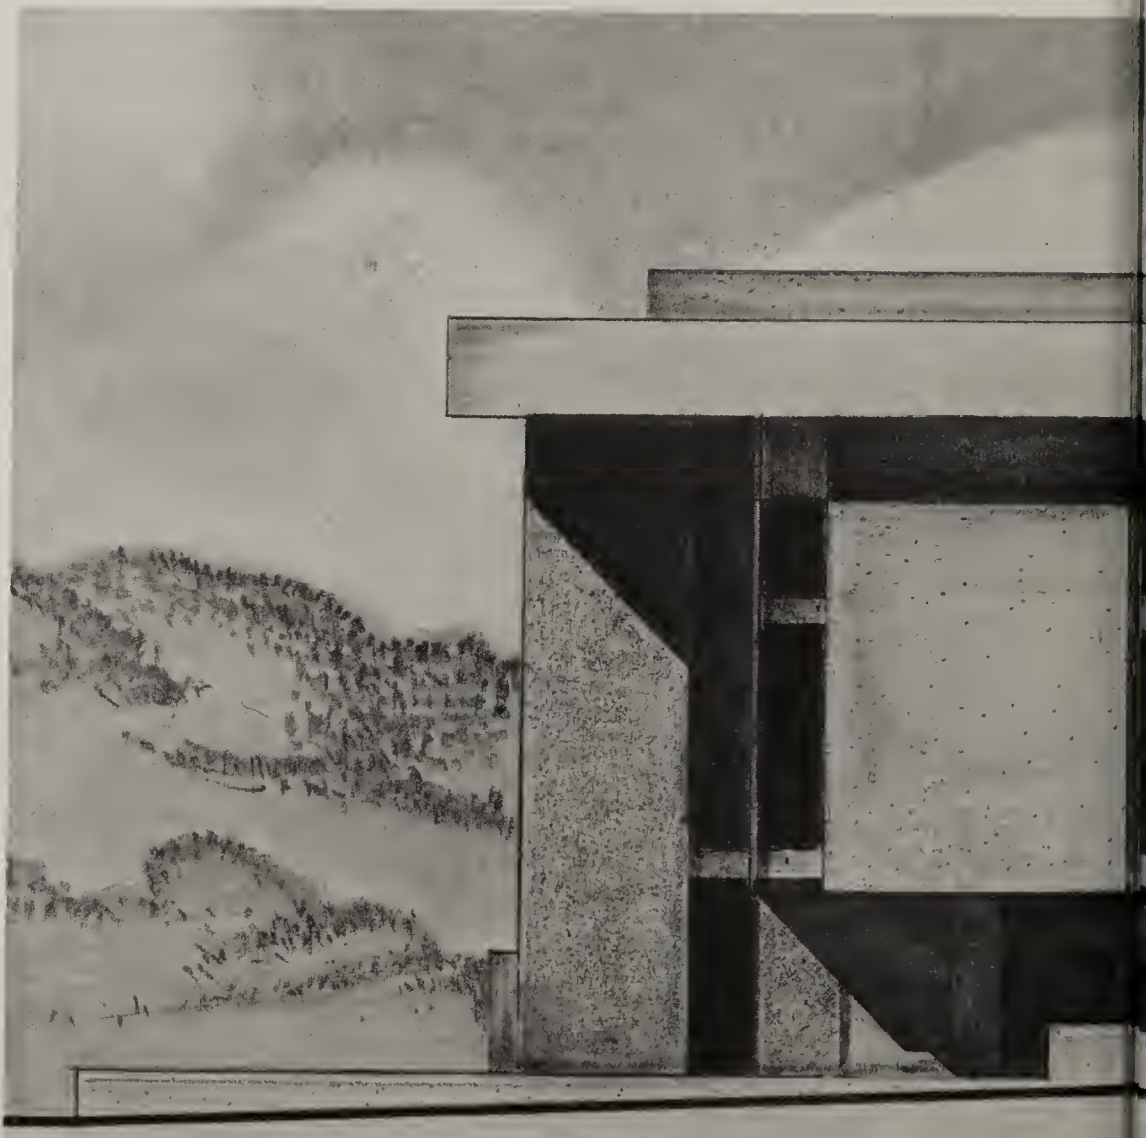

New Split-Level Library Building

Construction of the new $1,544,000 Library Building was begun shortly after graduation, and it is hoped that it will be ready for student use by the fall of 1967.

The Library is to be a split-level building two stories high in the front and three in the rear. Its capacity will be 900 students and 75,000 volumes, and it will have a dry moat across the front.

The location is on the shoulder of the old campus perimeter road between the Administration and the Mechanical Buildings, one of the reasons for a new road around the campus.
